BRITISH LOSE 3 SUBMARINES

Easing Of Tension But
Continuing Precautions
Noted In Neutral States

By UNITED PRESS

Germany claimed another naval triumph today in the destruction of three small British submarines. The Allied powers, meantime reported a steadily hardening European front against the possibility of Nazi-Soviet military action.

The destruction of the three submarines—the Seahorse, Undine and Starfish—with loss of probably more than 100 men was announced by the British admiralty, which said that some survivors of the "most hazardous" under-water operations off the German coast had been rescued by the Germans.

On the European front generally, there was a relaxation of tension in the neutral zones but no relaxation of precautions.

Germany charged that the fears of war on new fronts were caused by Allied propaganda. In any event, the immediate surface result seemed to have hardened opposition to the Red army or to the possibility—frequently cited by the Allies—of some future Nazi-Soviet joint action.

Bitter cold retarded the fighting again on the Finnish fronts. Russian troops were reported moving into the far northern zone in greater numbers. For the fifth straight day there were air raids by Soviet airplanes. Finns announced they had captured two of the famous Russian "parachute" troops which had been landed behind the Finnish lines and were seeking to send information by radio to their own forces.

Lions To Meet Tuesday Night

Stag Dinner At Raffles
Marks End Of First Half
In Attendance Contest

Placerville Lions will have an evening meeting on Tuesday of this coming week, marking the end of the first half of the club's thirty-two week attendance contest.

Hosts for the evening will be the "French Army" whose forces were defeated by the "British Army" in attendance during the first half of the race. According to plans approved by the club, in the second part of the contest both sides will start again with a clean slate.

Attention was directed to the evening meeting by Lion President Louis Ames at the club's meeting Tuesday noon of this week at which Perry Baker, a Commissioner in the Boy Scout organization in the Sacramento vicinity, was the principal speaker. Mr. Baker called attention to the approach of Boy Scout anniversary week, early in February.

Larry Kelly, golf club pro, spoke briefly as did Lion M. T. Kelly, who urged Lion golfers who have not qualified for the intra-club tournament to do so before the end of the week so that match play may be started Sunday.

C. J. MacMurray reviewed his recent vacation trip in the southern part of the state.

The Eagle basketball five, which took a lop-sided win from Snowline last week in the opening of the county basketball league schedule, meets the Forest Service Rangers tonight in the first game of the second round of the schedule.

In other games Snowline and Mosquito CCC Camps, both of which lost in the first round, will decide who is best and in the third game of the first round, will decide who is best and in the third game of the night the Cougars take the floor against the American Legion five. Mac's Jumbos rest tonight.

The Cougars lost a close one to Mac's Jumbos in the opening round while the strength of the American Legion entry is an unknown quantity since the American Legion drew the bye for the first week and did not take the floor.

League officials report that all clubs have been taking advantage of the periods allotted to them for practice at the high school gymnasium during the past week and it is expected that a marked improvement in form will be shown in the games tonight.

The first game of the night starts at 7 o'clock.

STATE'S GOLD OUTPUT GAINS

Production For State
7 Per Cent Above 1938

The quantity of gold recovered from California ores, old tailings, and gravels in 1939 exceeded that in any year since 1862 and its value exceeded that in any year since 1856, according to preliminary figures by the San Francisco Office of the Bureau of Mines, United States Department of the Interior.

Moreover, the quantity and value of silver, copper, and zinc (in terms of recovered metals) were greater in 1939 than in 1938. Lead output declined in both quantity and value. Preliminary figures show gold production in 1939 as 1,406,100 fine ounces, silver 2,612,000 fine ounces, copper 8,414,000 pounds, lead 852,000 pounds, and zinc 12,000 pounds—valued in all at $51,904,786. These figures compare with a production of 1938 of 1,311,129 ounces of gold, 2,590,804 ounces of silver, 1,612,000 pounds of copper, 990,000 pounds of lead, and no zinc—valued in all at $47,767,894.

The gross value of California production at average yearly prices in 1939 of $35 per ounce of gold, $0.678 per ounce of silver, $0.104 per pound of copper, $0.05 per pound of lead, and $0.053 per pound of zinc was: Gold $49,213,500, silver $1,772,994, copper $875,056, lead $42,600, and zinc $636. The average yearly prices in 1938 were $35 for gold, $0.646 plus for silver, $0.098 for copper, $0.046 for lead, and $0.048 for zinc; and the gross values were Gold, $45,889,515; silver $1,674,863; copper $157,976, and lead $45,540. The total value of the five metals in 1939 increased 9 per cent compared with 1938.

California was again the leading gold producing state; its 1939 output represented a 7-per cent increase over 1938 and marked the tenth successive year to show a

C. WILKINSON BREAKS BACK

Rancher Badly Injured
Tuesday Morning While
Pulling Down Tree

Clarence Wilkinson, rancher in the Gold Hill district, suffered a broken back and a fracture of the left shoulder Tuesday morning when he was hit by a falling tree.

He was removed to Placerville Sanatorium in the Orelli ambulance and doctor said he had suffered a fracture of the left shoulder blade and of the ninth or tenth dorsal vertebrae. There was no paralysis and his condition was reported as favorable.

It was reported Wilkinson was working on his ranch with his brother, Willard, and a hired man identified as "Mike," in the repair of a fence and in the course of this work they decided to cut down the stump of an old pine tree which projected about twenty or thirty feet into the air.

In the course of sawing through the stump, the tree pinched the saw and Willard and the hired man went to obtain a wedge. Clarence, in the course of their absence, attempted to pull the tree over with a rope and was struck by it as it fell.

His brother and the hired man returned to the scene a few minutes later and found him lying upon the ground and in evident severe pain.

A doctor was called and the ambulance was summoned when it was found that hospitalization would be required. The scene of the accident was some distance removed from the road and involved cutting a trail a short distance before Mr. Wilkinson could be brought out on the stretcher.

Quadruplets Born In Alabama Cabin

JASPER, Ala., (UP)—Faith, Hope, and Charity, newly arrived in this world, were still living today as was their unnamed brother. Moreover, they had a good chance to continue living.

They were babes delivered of the same mother as the result of one pregnancy. The miracle occurred in a two-room farm cabin in the Red Clay Hills 18 miles from here Sunday night with an astonished 65-year-old country doctor presiding in the cabin of share-chopper and coal miner, Clyde Short.

Mrs. Short said she wanted the girls named Faith, Hope, and Charity, and would think of a name for the boy later. A nurse could not tell the babies apart so, in the knitted caps, she put safety pins, one for Faith, two for Hope, and three for Charity.

The babies had not been weighed separately. Together, they weighed about 12 pounds.

Mrs. Frances Mahoney, 20-year-old former juvenile actress and mother of a 16-month-old baby boy, and Mrs. Anna Boaz gave birth to baby boys at the same hospital last Sept. 12. Through some error, the mothers charged, their babies were mixed.

A searching party of expert skiers headed by Forest Ranger A. R. Hogsom found tracks apparently made by Wiessing near Lyons Peak, 14 miles south, and reported to their headquarters here that the youth was alive probably as late as last night.

Mrs. Nelle Curtis is in Ogden, Utah, this week, called there by the sudden death of her mother.

C. C. Herbert, forest road superintendent, was in the Airport section above Georgetown on Monday.

Valley Council Meets Friday

Migrant Problem, Social Welfare, Relief Major
Topics For Discussion

SACRAMENTO—California's migrant problem and social welfare and relief are two principal topics to be discussed at a region-wide conference of the Sacramento Valley Council of the State Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Hotel Senator, Friday, January 19, at 10 a. m., according to A. E. Goddard, Regional vice-president.

A statewide survey dealing with the migrant problem will be discussed, together with recommendations submitted by individuals and organizations. California's migrant problem has received national attention and plans for a sound solution are anticipated.

Proposals dealing with relief include integration of all types of public assistance, including aid to the needy aged, blind and orphan aid and unemployment relief and return of the administration under statewide policies to be adopted by the state department of social welfare.

Subventions to counties from revenues derived from publicly owned lands are proposed as a means of providing revenue to counties in lieu of regular property taxes. The counties in the Sacramento Valley District have a large percentage of their area in publicly owned lands and this problem is acute in many counties.

Committee chairmen include Col. F. T. Robson, Vint, Agriculture; Kenneth R. Walker, Westwood, Conservation; Howard Reamer, Clarksburg, Highways; J. A. Irving, Placerville, Taxation, and Kenneth R. Kammer, Sacramento, Travel Promotion.

Justice of the Peace Will G. Taylor was in town Monday night from Shingle, attending the dinner meeting of the chamber of commerce.

gain, thus carrying the value of gold production in the state in 1939 to nearly six times that in 1929. Expanded output at working mines, reopening of former producing mines, and bringing into production prospects and new discoveries, together with the higher price of gold beginning in 1933, have all been factors resulting in this tremendous expansion of the industry.

The Grass Valley-Nevada City district, Nevada county, continuing to be the center of the gold-producing industry in California in 1939.

In El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne, and Mariposa counties, the deep mines of the Mother Lode included several outstanding gold producers. During the early part of 1939 the Big Canyon mine of The Mountain Copper Co., Ltd., was the leading producer in El Dorado county.

In April, however, Alhambra-Shumway Mines, Inc., started shipments which seemed likely to make it the leading lode-gold producer in El Dorado county and possibly the fourth largest producer on the entire Mother Lode; the ore is reported to be phenomenally rich, and competent mining engineers who have visited the property call it one of the most important strikes in California in recent years.

The Black Oak mine at Garden Valley, a substantial producer in 1938, ceased operations early in 1939; and the Beebe mine at Georgetown, also a large producer during 1938, was inactive during 1939. In Amador County the Central Eureka Mining Co. continued its expansion of output. Increased production was also reported from the Argonaut and Kennedy mines in Amador county.

Most of the placer gold produced in California during 1939 was recovered by floating dredges of the connected bucket type, although the dragline dredges were of increasing importance. In Sacramento county the Natoma Co., Capital Dredging Co., and Cosumnes Dredging Co. were the leading operators.

During 1938, 77 operators worked 80 dragline dredges in California. A preliminary count for 1939 indi-

HUGE ORCHARD CUT WILLOWS. (P) — The 200-acre Hayward Reed nectarine orchard—largest nectarine orchard in the world—is being entirely re-planted. More than 20,000 nectarine trees are being cut down and the wood given away. New trees will take their place as fast as they can be planted.

A winery in Fresno is said to be the largest in the world.

Statistics that the number of dragline dredges operated passed the 100 mark, and that the output from the dragline dredging increased almost 50 per cent. Dragline dredges worked bodies of gravel in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada, west of the Mother Lode; in the foothills of Nevada, Yuba, and Butte Counties; southwest of Redding in Shasta county; and in several locations in Trinity and Siskiyou counties.

tion as constituted for the new year indicates further progress toward realization of the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce to give evidence of its county-wide interest.

Mr. Berry, president, resides at Camino. Directors resident in Placerville include Mr. Strum, Reuel V. Whigham, John A. Raffetto, Jr., Lloyd Raffetto, Mr. Hook, George E. Faugstad, Lloyd Cannon, C. E. Barker and Dr. L. J. Anderson.

Other directors come from the rural county and include Harry Bell, of Shingle Springs, Homer P. Brown, Diamond Springs; Charles W. Doe, Jr., of Diamond Springs; Cyril H. Heusner, of Shingle Springs. In the recent past, starting with the term of Reuel Whigham as president two years ago, special effort to demonstrate the interests of the Chamber of Commerce as a county-wide organization was instituted, and the new directorate shows continuing progress toward this goal.

The meeting, following a chicken dinner, was opened by President Hook with a short greeting following which Secretary Wallace M. Ripley spoke briefly of some of the accomplishments of the organization during the year and made mention of his annual report which was distributed in mimeographed form at the close of the meeting.

A. H. Murray, budget committee chairman, gave his committee report for the year and John A. Winkelman summarized the activities of the conservation committee, of which he is chairman. These included the planting of 280 pheasants and 95 partridges in the county, and co-operation with the Forest Service in the establishment of three trout rearing ponds in the American River Canyon. He also called attention to the program for building check dams on some of the lakes at high elevations which is being carried out by the Forest Service with the co-operation of the Mt. Ralston Fish Planting Club and the El Dorado Rod and Gun Club.

way committee for the year, summarized the committee's work and called attention to construction projects currently under way on U. S. Route 50. The committee had recommended some work on the Mother Lode highway between Lotus and the Placer county line, and also in the Nashville section. He noted that work has been done in the district north of Lotus.

For new construction, the committee has recommended re-alignment of the two-mile section on U. S. Route 50 between Merryman's and the Five-Mile Terrace, and has urged upon the Bureau of Public Roads the need for improvement of the Fresh Pond Hill, he said.

Efforts to clarify the directional sign situation at Sacramento to eliminate what appears to be a discrimination against U. S. 50 have been thus far unsuccessful.

C. E. Barker summarized some of the activity in the county in the field of water and irrigation during the year. He mentioned the series of hearings before the Railroad Commission relative to the Georgetown water problems, the rehabilitation of the Diamond Ridge Ditch by El Dorado Irrigation District, and the more recently instituted work looking toward the development of a number of small water sources on ranch properties in the county and the study of over-night storage reservoirs for irrigation.

Reuel V. Whigham, publicity chairman, reported the issuance of 10,000 booklets concerning the county, of which 7,000 have been distributed; the issuance of 10,000 folders, of which 4,000 have been distributed; the erection of highway advertising signs and smaller highway posters and the marking of thirty-five historic sites, as included in the work of his committee.

In addition, the committee co-operated in numerous ways with the Golden Gate International Exposition and obtained for the county a great amount of publicity from that source.

At this point in the meeting, Mr. Berry was installed as president, and in the course of his remarks said he had noted in reading recently of early-day lumbering in the county that the transportation of lumber across the American River canyon presented a problem which was attacked by the lumbering pioneers in various ways.

Finally, it was decided to swing the lumber across the canyon on a cable and the proposal proved a success. He said that although the county is split near its easterly boundary by a mountain range, and is divided by ridges and canyons running easterly and westerly, he hopes that ways will be found, just as the pioneer lumberers found ways, to surmount geographical obstacles and promote the welfare of El Dorado County as a unit.

Walter Drysdale, chairman of the mining committee for the past year, spoke of notable developments in that industry and foresaw increasing activity in the Kelsey district, in which the fabulously rich Alhambra mine is situated, with the coming Spring.

Assistant Forester Arnold Weber, speaking on lumbering, noted that although the lumber output of the county for the years following 1929 was about 80 million feet per year, last year the output increased to 122 million feet.

He said an upsurge as a result of the war in Europe is to be expected and mentioned as factors in the lumbering outlook the chance of liquidation of large timber stands for cash; the influence of taxation, in which there is hope of some remedial steps; and the influence of legislation.

He suggested to the Chamber of Commerce an investigation of the possibilities of the use of the bark of incense cedar, of which there are large stands in the county, for insulation, and the probability of establishing this as a new industry in the county.

He also mentioned the possibility of using white fir, of which there is an ample supply at hand, for the manufacture of paper pulp, of which, until the war, large quantities came from the Scandinavian countries.

Farm advisor Lilley said authorities he recently has contacted have pointed out that in the history of American farming there has been no marked upsurge in prices as a result of war unless it was a war in which the United States was engaged. Several factors indicate, he said, that the war in Europe at least for the coming year will have little reflection in the American farm prices.

With all trends pointing toward increasing industrial employment in the eastern part of the country, he felt the probability of improving markets for fruit is attractive, although this early in the year definite forecasts in this regard are impossible.

Robert Carpenter, ski club president, expressed the club's thanks for the support given its efforts by the Chamber of Commerce and mentioned that the Lover's Leap Ski Shelter, which the club is erecting in co-operation with the Forest Service, will be furnished during the coming year and ready for next season.

The ski tow, being erected in the Lover's Leap Ski Area, will be completed in the near future and the club's ski hill, nearby, will be the equal of any in the state.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith, speaking on recreation, revealed his records show the county was host during the past year to 412,210 recreational visitors of whom 20,000 were tourists passing through; 3,610 were summer homes owners and guests; 25,200 were hotel guests; 76,000 were campers and 78,000 were picnickers.

The entertainment and supervision of so large a number of visitors presents many problems although there is room for industrial development and for recreational development as well, on the forest, he said.

There are 1152 summer homes in the forest on government land and 20 resorts on government land, he said. The developed recreational area on the forest is 800 acres in extent and the Forest Service has segregated a total of 250,000 acres for potential recreational use.

The Supervisor mentioned that fires on the forest during the past season were the most numerous in history, totaling 160. However, the total area burned was only 277 acres.

Mr. Tatton was the concluding speaker. From his experience as the secretary of the Sacramento Valley Council of the State Chamber of Commerce he told of numerous ways in which Chambers of Commerce serve their communities.

Declaring that one of the major problems of the state and the nation today is the need for adequate leadership, Mr. Tatton pointed out to the large audience the value of a Chamber of Commerce as an agency for developing that leadership and for giving expression to the community of opinion achieved through deliberations within the organization membership.

In adjourning the meeting, President Berry made reference to the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Der-Shelter, which the club is erecting

Native Of County Is Buried At Capital

Funeral services were held on Friday at Sacramento for Joseph H. McQuiston, a native of El Dorado County, who died Wednesday of last week at the capital city.
